NIXON REALLY IS THE ONE

Demos Control

Wice President Concedes,

Georgians

"To be willing to give when there's no more to give  $\ldots$  "

"To Dream the impossible dream . . ."

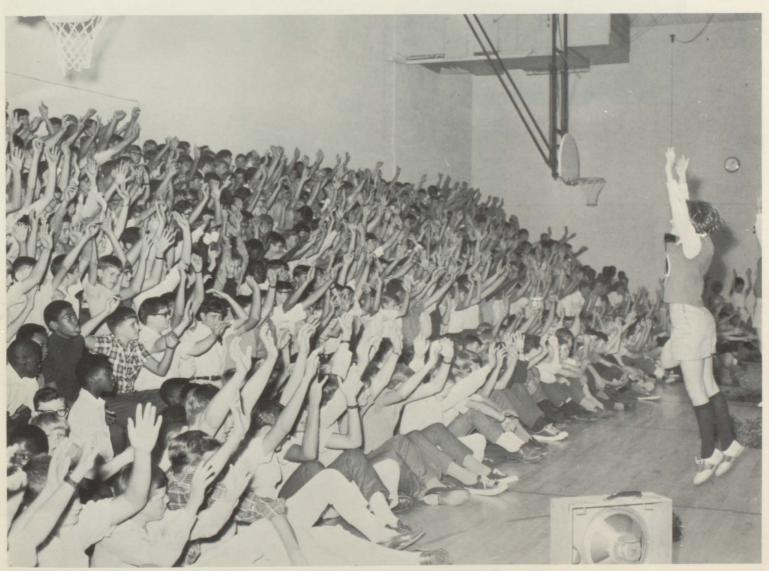

"To do what is not easily done . . ."

"To beat the unbeatable foe . . ."

"To strive for achievement through cooperation . . ."

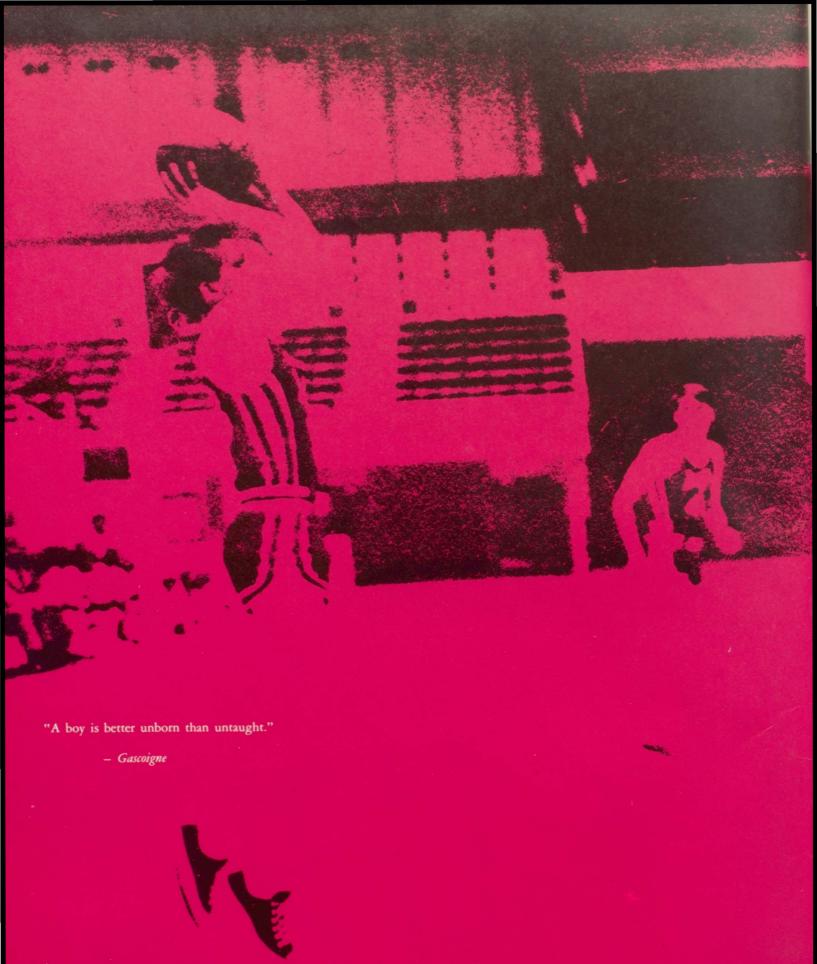

"To be willing to give when there is no more to give."

Burdened with unreceptive, sometimes unwilling, charges and entrusted with the moral and intellectual enrichment of malleable young minds, our faculty members become more than mere tutors or instructors, but instead assume the larger roles of counselors and parents. With limitless enthusiasm and unbounded devotion for the task which they have undertaken, these are the people who give so generously of themselves to prepare us for what lies ahead.

- d. Mrs. Mary Meeks, Stetson University, A.B.
- e. Butch Clifton, Mercer University, A.B.
- f. Donald Webb, Fort Valley State College, B.S.

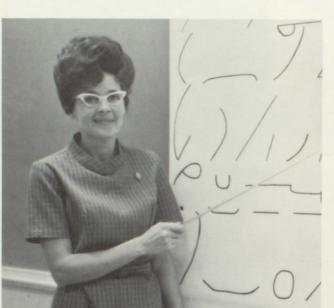

In order to reach an intelligent understanding of the present and abilities to handle the future, the past needs to be studied. Through social studies we can reach this understanding thus forming a better society.

Business Education

- a. Miss Marion McCarty, Georgia College, B.S.
- b. Mrs. Jeanette Gurley, North Georgia College, B.S.
- c. Mrs. Mary Clark, University of Georgia, B.S.
- d. Mrs. Mary Pellew, Florida State University, A.B.
- e. Mrs. Vennis Pope, Georgia College, B.S.
- f. Bruce Grimes, Austin Peavy State University, B.S.; Freed Hardeman University, A.A.

The business class' main function is to prepare students, not going to college, for the business world. The business department also offers practical courses for those that go on to college. These courses can be put to use by students during their high school years.

Home Economics

The Home Economics Department broadens the scope of all future home-makers. Through this field sewing, cooking, grooming, and family living are offered. This forms a stable foundation for homes of tomorrow.

- a. Mrs. Brenda Thomas, Georgia College, B.S.
- b. Mrs. Loydia Webber, Prairie View College, B.S. and M.Ed.
- c. Mrs. Laura Taylor, Georgia College, B.S.

Language

In our shrinking world, geographical boundaries no longer hinder communication. French, Spanish, and Latin help students become better acquainted with the customs and histories of other cultures.

- a. Mrs. Adrianne Hudson, University of North Carolina, A.B.
- b. Mrs. Margaret Elkins, University of Georgia, A.B.
- c. Miss Sandra Young, Huntingdon College, A.B.

- g. Mrs. Janice Norden, Troy State University, A.B.
- h. Mrs. Linda Gresham, Maryville College, B.S.
- i. Melvyn H. Schoychid, University of Georgia, B.S.
- j. Marcell Harrison, Texas Christian University, A.B.; Texas University, M.Ed.

The Physical Education Department portrays great enthusiasm and reflects in the students a willingness to participate in all sports. Its importance lies in obtaining physical fitness as well as sportsman's conduct.

With a distant goal viewed, but dimly through the mists of an uncertain future, the underclassmen slowly traverse the paths of experience which will eventually reward their quest. Each individual prepares in his own way for what he expects to encounter, but each makes preparation, nonetheless.

"To dream the impossible dream."

Alexander, William Allen, Donald Arnold, Gerald Arnold, Juanita

Sub-Freshmen

Arising from an atmosphere of security and dependence into one of insecurity, excitement, wonder, and independence, the eighth grade is confronted with the impossible dream of finding their own identity. They observe the vices and virtues of upperclassmen, each forming a unique personality.

Stephen Shimmel, Treasurer; Mike Kitchens, Secretary.

The main function of the school, to develop our minds in many fields, has brought these students their recognition. They are the scholastic leaders as well as school leaders, devoting many hours of study and hard work to gain the respect of their fellows. These people represent the epitome of intellectual achievement within the sphere of influence which they inhabit.

"To do what is not easily done."

JOY BEDGOOD

She is one of those very special people, of which there are too few, who brighten the dullness of the everyday routine about them with their zestful bounce and spritely countenance.

JEFF GRANADE

Despite his many other virtues, he will probably be best remembered for his quick wit and ready smile. Whether in the classroom or in the field of sports, his good humor and bubbling personality infect all who come in contact with him.

LYNN BOOKER

The personification of poise and good cheer in a combination of unusual properties, which are seldom found blended in such an agreeable mixture . . .

MIKE JACKSON

The master in many areas whose achievements are only as numerous as his talents are varied. He is capable of conquering any field to which he may decide to apply himself.

CORLISS CARR

Probably most renowned for her numerous intellectual achievements, she is also gifted with a sharp, perky sense of humor and a reserved bearing which will house her other outstanding qualities.

SCOTT JUDD

A fiercely competitive spirit and a burning desire to do his best in all he undertakes have made him outstanding among his peers. He serves as an inspiration to those around him with his determination and boundless energy.

RHONDA KOPLIN

A calm, unselfish manner provides the ideal setting for her affable yet responsible nature. She is a born companion for all who are so fortunate as to share her acquaintance.

PETE PETERMAN

Coupled with his keen intellect, Pete's painstaking effort to fulfill every endeavor to the utmost, could terminate in nothing but success.

BEVERLY LUKEMIRE

Masked by a quiet exterior experience, her always agreeable manner becomes clearly apparent as one comes to know her more fully. She has the unusual ability to make a person feel at home under any circumstances.

WILLIAM SIMPSON

With his pleasant demeanor and optimistic outlook, he accepts every responsibility and provides valuable leadership in all he undertakes.

DIANE WOOD

Versatile and intelligent, she is one of those rare people who is gifted with the Midas touch, capable of making a success of any endeavor with her effervescent personality.

CHUCK WELLS

Armed with his cheerfully light-hearted manner and dry, biting sense of humor, he should prove equal to any of the challenges which life may throw his way.

Living for the future and reliving the past, these, our seniors, are caught between two worlds. Plunging into a vast darkness of inexperience we become obsessed with reaching for the unreachable star. GRADUATION – exuberance – ambition – memories – apprehension. These form the base from which we start the quest for a new way of life.

"To have reached the unreachable star."

IN MEMORY OF JOHN DAVIS DONAHUE

The tragedy of a lost friend is always a sorrowful occurrence, but when the deceased is youthful and full of vitality as well, the grief is compounded doubly for those who remain behind. Tokens of mourning and the most sincere condolences cannot express the sense of loss we sustained at the untimely passing of so rare a friend. If the regard of his peers serves as any criterion of a person's worth, then John's brief life was as productive and meaningful as could possibly be hoped for by any young man.

"To fight the unbeatable foe."

The ecstasy of success, the melancholy of failure, the fatigue of total exertion: these provide the dramatic background as both player and spectators are caught up in the frenzied excitement of strenuous athletic competition. Almost invariably rated as an underdog, the scrappy Bulldogs earned the respect of everyone they encountered with their fiery spirit and "never say die" attitude.

Playing for the first time this season in Henderson Stadium, the Smith gridders hosted the Red Jackets of Jordan High for the third annual encounter of the two clubs. Despite a valiant effort by the 'Dogs, a fantastic one hundred and sixty-five yards in penalty assessments proved too much of an obstacle to surmount as the visitors from Columbus copped a slender victory, 14-10.

David Skidmore

Eddie Branch

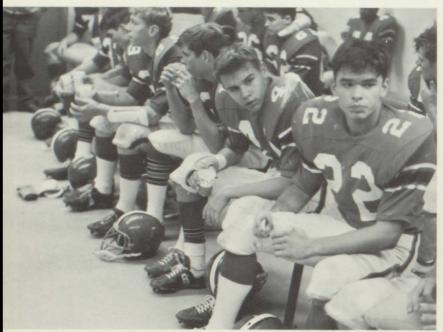

Jimmy Parks

Completely outclassed by the region champions of Lanier, the scrappy Bulldogs fell before the Poets offensive Juggernaut by the humiliating margin of thirty-four points. The worst blanking a Mark Smith team has ever suffered, the results of the season's contest should provide a goading spur for future encounters with the Orange and Green.

In the first game ever between the two schools, Mark Smith's battling Bulldogs staged a come-from-behind coup to drop the Peter G. Appling Wildcats, 13-6, in Porter Stadium. It was the first win of the season for the 'Dogs and a timely one as well, coming as it did only three days before news of the Ballard-Hudson forfeit.

The Bulldogs reached their finest hour of the '68-'69 season in their second annual Homecoming Game in Henderson Stadium against the Hardaway Hawks. Going into the fourth quarter trailing by three points, the Smith offensive squad staged a remarkable ninety-nine yard drive to reach paydirt and gain their most exciting victory of the year, 10-6.

A very special evening was it indeed as from a court of ten were chosen three young ladies to represent the current senior class to the returning graduates. Highlighting the contest with a fantastic ninety-nine yard touchdown drive, the fighting Bulldogs reached the peak of a disappointing season to set the stage for the upcoming festivities.

Cheerleaders

Great appreciation is expressed to the cheer-leaders for their "never dying" sparks of enthusiasm. Often taken for granted, our teams would be incomplete without these motivators of spirit. Good sportsmanship and school spirit are necessary in victory, but essential during defeat. The arts displayed through our cheering squads become a victory within itself.

CLASS AAA STATE CHAMPS

All Tournament Team

Charlie Anderson "Most Valuable Player" Cam Bonifay Frank Prince

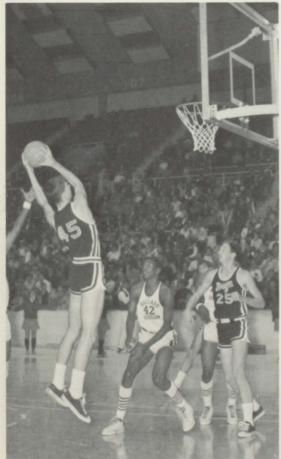

Led by the twice all-state guard and team captain Scott Judd, the Bulldog basketball quintet opened their 1968-1969 campaign with a satisfying victory over nearby rival Peter G. Appling in the first high school contest ever held in the new Macon coliseum. Only three short months they gained the first region title ever captured by a Mark Smith squad as they downed the Lanier Poets, 79-71, in the finals of the Region 2AAA East Tournament.

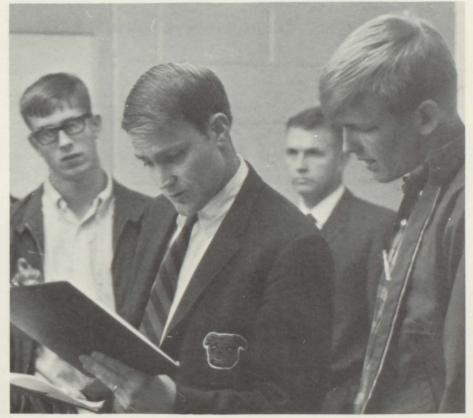

One of the most valuable aspects of this year's Cagers was their great height and ability to dominate the boards. With three of the starters well over six feet tall, the 'Dogs were able to completely stifle the offensive efforts of almost all competition.

Lasseter Physical Education Department

As the Physical Education Department opens at Lasseter, action prevails. With ever-growing enthusiasm and immense stamina, the girls show signs of becoming genuine athletes. Aside from the physical and mental contributions, the Athletic Department offers good sportsmanship and high ideals.

Working separately for individual goals, the various organizations each contribute in a different way toward the common good of the school. Every student who participates sacrifices a small portion of his autonomy in order to benefit the group.

Pep Club

Of all the various clubs at Mark Smith, undoubtedly the fastest growing and most active is the newly-formed Pep Club. Promoting spirit for the athletic teams and providing a means for all the students to participate in some way in sports, this is one of the most welcome additions to the Smith organizations.

With the work at last accomplished and the final product of our labors before us, all that remains of a year's endeavors are the memories which we have acquired along the way. In this book we have tried to recall and record some of the most outstanding occurrences of this year: a victorious homecoming, outstanding students, a dedicated faculty, and many other of the minute and trivial details which have made 1969 what it was for each of us. The contributions of the various staff members have been invaluable in reaching the completion of this task. Billie's constant search for names, Mrs. Gurley's frustrated directions, the hushed whispers of Cathy and Marcia in the corner, Scott's shyness from the photographer, and Pete's continual struggle to find just the right word are fond recollections shared by but a privileged few, but without them this annual would never have been possible.

To these people we would like to give our most heartfelt thanks for allowing us to share in the very special memories of having worked together to bring this annual to you, the student body.

Not only student effort, however, but the work and support of various community businesses and social leaders were necessary to make this book a reality. To these people also we would like to extend our utmost appreciation for their contributions throughout the year.

Last but not least we wish to acknowledge the help and assistance of the tireless faculty advisors: Mrs. Mary Meeks, Mrs. Jeanette Gurley, Mrs. Carole Seabrooke, and Mr. G. Lewis Wright.

With many pleasant memories of the past and fond hopes for all in facing what lies ahead, we remain

Chuck and Rhonda
